

Finding Your Father Heart Identity!

○ “I made you to be a receiver and giver of good gifts, so I could give you something of great value to hold, honor, and give to someone to whom it would have great value. My favored daughter destined to receive and give. I have given you many good gifts but almost from your mother’s womb you have worked to undermine or outright destroy everything good that I have brought into your life.”

○ “She is something special. Yes, she is! Oh yes, she really is something special! … But I have formed many “something special” sons and daughters. The really special thing isn’t who she is but “where” I made her for. She will find a place for herself in the arenas of influence. I formed her with the confidence and skills to make room for herself among those that will influence cultures, trends, and societies direction.”

○ “My covenant promise to you is to always delight in you, love you, and keep arranging the dimensions of your identity to cause you to thrive wherever you are. You have already faced hard challenges in your young life and will face many more so let your faith rest on My goodness and the success you have experienced because My presence has been with you so far on the journey, which also testifies to My faithfulness to you.”

○ “I made you for the High Places. Everything you do, you excel at. Everything you feel, you feel strongly about. If you love it, you really love it. If you dislike it, you really hate it. There is almost nothing you don’t have an opinion about and everyone around you will know what you feel.”

○ “As I watch over you and refresh you with my affection, I see that you are often viewing your fruitful life as a waste. You have watched as cycle after cycle of fruit has appeared that few have come and picked it. From your place of observation most of it has remained unharvested and fallen on the ground, rotted, and disappeared. The fruit is not the focus of your life. The seeds inside are. Even now the fruit of your life that you believe rotted is in reality growing in the lives of many.”

○ “I designed him to know a good thing when he sees it! He possesses the mind, has the vision, and will acquire the shrewdness and discernment, from which skills will develop which will permit him to ultimately achieve his desired outcome. His quick mind, expressive eyes, and flexible personality all serve to make him attractive as a friend, a family uniter, or a partner. I formed him to be a seeker, which will leave him with the nagging feeling that if he doesn’t pursue something he is going to miss out.”

○ “My beautiful daughter. I formed you to be open hearted, empathetic, filled with deep desires and passions for the circumstances and needs of others around you. Although you have not yet experienced it, you are made to love big and to love deep. I made you able to see and feel the pain, fear, and darkness that your culture has inflicted into the lives of those around you.”

○ “Not only did I form you to be beautiful, open-hearted and compassionate but as part of your “daughter design” I gave you the ability to bring joy into the sorrows of others, peace into the conflict swirling in the lives of others, and the ability to establish an atmosphere where contentment reigns over chaos.”

○ “My always- searching daughter. I made you to be a seeker of truth who never accepts reality as it is presented to you by your culture or your experience. I formed you with a vibrant mind, a healthy body and a vivid creative desire for your emotions so you would discover and expose reality.”

○ “I made you to be a rite of passage for many of your generation and those born from your generation. I formed you to be: A launching place for those called by Me but rejected by men. A place for gaining confidence by those sent on my behalf but reluctant to engage. A place of liberation for those having desire but lacking wisdom. A gift – activating place for those with desire but neglected or passed over by the Church. A place for those in need of refreshment in their journey.”

○ You face a myriad of things that threaten you or are focused on shutting you down, emotionally, and spiritually. So, despite the challenges you have lived through, My Spirit has remained close to you. Both your circumstances and the sensitive aspects of your design requires My Spirit to always be providing you protection, sustaining you in peace, and filling you with hope. This grace in your design is there to be developed and taken advantage of by you, to empower you to navigate the spiritual realm, and to serve others with guidance, light and clarity when they cannot see or trust their reality. This same grace allows you to serve others with simplicity and clarity”

○ “Out of My passion I formed you in such a complex way that you are often confusing to yourself and those around you. As your Father I am neither confused about you nor find you as anything but a wonderfully delightful daughter to Me. Your unique complexity is often a source of joy and wonder to Me and to the angles as we watch you continually unfolding in some unusual way to reveal something new of yourself only to have something else emerge out of who you are.”

○ “Daughter, I am so thrilled with how I formed you, how I shaped you to be a messenger of heaven. Even in your young life when you were still becoming familiar with the sounds of earth, you were developing a comfort level with the sounds of heaven as well. You heard much of our life expressed here in heaven. You became intimate, not only with the sounds of heaven but the cadence of heaven as well and, because everything that happens here originates from My heart, you became intimately aware of the sound of My heart.”

○ “You are designed, like Me, to be a lover! That means I formed you vulnerable, emotional, tender, and targeted. All I made you to be starts with Me loving you deeply, passionately, and jealously. Me loving you is the only way for you to learn and develop as a lover and that process is actually harder for both of us than you can imagine.”

○ “You and I now share the loss of our daughter but only I can heal the pain and redeem the loss. You and I share heart-pain at a level you have not known until now. A child of your life is now gone. She is a child of My life too. Neither of us were able to ease her inner swirl. The same drive that propelled her to pursue knowledge could not serve her to produce peace. It was not a flaw in her. I had designed a different pathway to peace which she rarely explored.

○ “Faithfulness is personal between you and Me. It’s who you are and who I am as we live out our covenant love in the environment of your world. That often means you feel like an outsider who people don’t know what to do with and you never know if you are succeeding or not. You are not the first who has struggled with that reality. Abraham was married to a faithful woman. She knew My promise to Abraham and faithfully lived to make it happen. It is easy for a faithful person to work too hard to achieve in order that the outcome will be right. Faithfulness is not measured by outcomes. It is experienced in loyalty, service, and affection.

○ “Today you can still dream. I made you to dream. I often see you and delight in watching you like my dreamer son Joseph. You come from a long line of dreamers. Have you noticed your dreamer father? He is a dream chaser like you. Have you seen yet that you’re the mother of a dream chaser?”

○ “I made her for heaven and then placed her on the earth where it is impossible for her to find a place of belonging. To her the world has always been a cruel place. Even though I knew how difficult and challenging it was going to be, I was confident that My presence and affection, My passion and love for her would be enough.”

○ “Son I know you don’t yet feel either like you have influence or are a delight to Me, however both of those things are true of you! They are true because before time I made you in My heart. I mixed tenderness with determination and spiritual understanding to form you.”

○ “In the beginning God (that’s Me) created…” Before I revealed anything else about Me to mankind, I established that I color outside the lines! Why should all this be important to you? Because I formed you to serve as a doorman to the areas where I have colored outside the lines. The greater your conviction is as to your own identity and expression, the more affective you will be as a spiritual doorman. Your confidence will draw more people to you, opening a way for their own spiritual experience and expression to expand.”

○ “My son, I have made you to keep winning the prize. I have made you with the design and desire to go for the prize in everything you choose. Choose carefully, son. Rely on the strength, experience, vision, and wisdom of your coaches, trainers, and fathers. Without them you will often commit yourself to the pursuit of the “prize” with a price attached that you don’t want to pay in the end.”

○ “If you were a baseball player, you would have the reputation of being a utility player. You have quality natural skills allowing you to play any position. While most players can only be effective in one position you are attracted to so many diverse interests, you are not shaped to become a specialist. I designed you that way and I am pleased with your design.”

○ “My daughter, I am always fascinated by you, watching how you respond to experiences, process challenges, and establish and manage expectations. I blessed you with the dual gifts of wisdom and innocence. I designed them into you, together with My Spirit, to inform and shape your pattern of faithfulness. Innocence isn’t about not doing wrong things, Possessing innocence as a gift keeps you from surrendering to shame at those times you do experience wrong.”

○ “Precious daughter of my heart, in the experience of deep loneliness it would represent for both of us a great loss if you were to pull away now. I made you so that it is only in nearness that I can comfort, strength, and share pleasure with you. I made you for close companionship with Me so I did not provide an effective alternative through which I can comfort and strengthen you through your earthly journey.”

○ “Finding a way, making, and marking a way that others can follow, and taking possession of unclaimed territory as your own, is both your legacy and a reflection of your life as an explorer, scout, and surveyor. You keep opening paths for others to follow, broaden, and possess. There will continue to be many who discover the inheritance that they didn’t know was theirs until you opened a pathway for them.”

○ “Your life has worked out the way it has because I didn’t set a mission before you, rather I offered you an inheritance to be possessed. Because of the nature and size of your inheritance I also set-in motion My plan to have many others possess it with you. Thus, you are crafted to be an explorer, scout and surveyor.”

○ “I, like you, am an idealist, perfectionist, and romantic. It delights heaven that you desire so many things that I desire. They often say here about you that “she is approaching that with the same desire, passion and actions that You would. A big difference between us is I am supremely confident, while fear has surrounded and captured your confidence.”

○ “My daughter, you can’t help me do for you what I already set in place in you. I desire to journey with you into your fear-hole, so you watch Me move the stone, releasing the living water of life which fills the cisterns of your spirit. It will flood your heart, banishing fear, and renewing confidence until it overflows in transformation of everything you touch, embrace or bless.”

○ “You have a wonderful and complex design which is loaded with features that can propel you above and beyond the established and the normal! I have journeyed with you through your life-long struggle to conform to established norms so that you would be able to experience acceptance although you have repeatedly failed to experience either conformity (normality) or acceptance.”

○ “My son, there is a river that flows from heaven through the earth. You were formed in My heart to be a man of the river. The river, like you, starts in My heart and provides life. You were designed to deliver life to anything you touch. Even as the river of life brings life to everything it touches; you will bring joy to those you touch because through your life the power and presence of the “Most High” flows!”

○ “They said that you weren’t going to live. You lived! And in so doing became My overcoming son. At the moment you have made it very clear that you are not happy with who I made you to be. That puts us at odds. The distance that has developed between us is just one more place for overcoming. You were born to be My superhero, overcoming son. When you were born you were already like me, designed to overcome death and you did! I never made you to be overwhelmed, overshadowed, and overlooked.”

○ “Because I formed you with such discernment and knowledge, you observed that you could make something great out of all I had designed into you. You made choices about how to use those resources to form a phenomenally successful, self-made man. You have worked hard and challenged yourself all along the way. While, as your Father, I marvel at how well you have done, I miss living with the son I formed. Even approaching this with you, I am aware that once you choose something you are tenacious in pursuing it and almost never change your direction. Yet here I am offering you the opportunity to move towards My original design of you.

○ “As My son, formed in My heart, you are able to benefit from every opportunity you encounter. I have positioned you with the ability and resources to experience My greatest love. As a son of opportunity, I designed you with amazing talents with which to pursue endless expressions of who you are. I have made you desirable to your culture. I have revealed myself to you in ways that are appealing to you.”

○ “I was considering the wind when I formed you in My heart. Wind changes everything it encounters. It can move the smallest particle of dust, relocate, and set the smallest seed in its place. The wind can topple an ancient tree or resculpt an entire landscape. You, My daughter, were crafted to do the same. Winds are stirred as the atmosphere changes and wind influences the change of the atmosphere. You too have always been like that.”

○ “My first son (Jesus) came to His family and His family did not receive him. (John 1:11) Yet it was through their rejection of Him that the whole world was transformed! I have formed sons and daughters in every family and generation who will be transformers wherever I send them. You, my son, are a transformer. My son, Joseph, too, was a transformer like you. He transformed the history of a family and the destiny of two nations! The experience that marks every transformer’s life is family rejection.”

○ “I made you gifted, visionary and designed to express yourself through the passionate experiences in your life. My Father-heart designed you that way so you would be both a giver and receiver of love, compassion, and generous favor. As a young boy you quickly became a target for those who wanted to exploit who you are, or they wanted to pervert who you are. Their actions left you contending with fear and constantly working to absolve the guilt that has become like a cancer to you.”

○ “I wrote your story that way desiring the delight that would be ours as we together, Father and son, formulated the relationships and connections with others in your life. I structured your intellect, desires, and emotions to work in harmony with mine so we could complete writing each sentence of your story together. In My heart the focus of your story has always been relationships: personal, strategic, influential, and intimate ones. Yet, from your earliest life experience much of your story has been written by the wants, expectations, and desires of others and what they want for you.”

○ “Here is the good news, because I made you from the very beginning in My heart to be a spring of living water, you are not disqualified or under some form of judgement for having become toxic. As your Father I never judge or quibble with who I made you to be in the first place! It is not too late in your earthly life, nor are you too old for Me to father you, in a redemptive way, restoring the free flow again. If you feel a need to “repent” then submit to My father heart for you, as I drain off the toxic water and reopen the twisted damage flow pipe releasing again the fresh flow of My living water. Redemption is one of the funniest, easiest things that I get to do.”

○ “Throughout most of your life I have put few restrictions on you. I formed you to maximize what your life could accomplish for My kingdom. I didn’t build great ambition or focus into your design. Rather it was the lack of restrictions I put on you that has driven your exploration, discovery, relationships, and achievements. What I formed you for son is liberty. Despite what you might think now, liberty is never a liability to My kingdom. However, liberty is a costly pathway to accomplishing the kingdom destiny of a man like you, son.”

○ “My most excellent daughter, I raised you up in adversity in order to form you as a pearl, a unique precious jewel in “My Father Crown”. I brought you through the process you endured, first, so that you can be a delight to Me and second, so I could uniquely position you to have access to My ear. That access has enabled you to directly engage with Me on behalf of others who have had their own voices silenced through adversity, providing you the privilege of speaking directly to Me when others cannot.”

○ “You still thrill Me as you continue to express the wonderful, gifted, and uncomplicated daughter I formed you to be. You are a compliment to everyone who connects to you. They are better off for being connected to you than they would be without the connection. The more confident you are in you, the more it benefits those associated with you. Even as a little girl your connection to others was a benefit to them.”

○ “Daughter of My heart, tender and pliable, hopeful and kind, you have faced destructive iniquity-driven activities that were focused on your destruction or would have at least rendered you useless to impact your environment in any meaningful and fulfilling way. There is no judgment in My heart for you because of the choices you have made in attempting to find a path to life in the face of what the anti – you forces set up to oppose you.”

○ “You are Father’s man of light designed to change the atmosphere for those with broken hearts! Living heart to heart with Father you carry the message and ministry of the prophet Samuel, treating others with the same passion, compassion, and desire that Father does, causing you to experience fulfillment, joy, and peace in this world.”

○ “When, as a young person, you followed the sounds around you, you became unreliable, easily manipulated, and unable to live with realities demands. You would have become hopelessly lost but I could not fathom losing you that way. In your flesh you were weak, intimidated, fearful, and malleable. So, I made you strong and secure inside to protect you from the ravaging destruction going on all around you.”

○ “Sons, the good that I do, as God is almost always twisted, perverted, and challenged. That is the nature of an environment established by sin’s distortion. When you were formed in your mother’s womb, I made sure you were a matched set of brothers. When I fashioned you in My heart each of you were seekers, searchers, hunters, explorers, and each of you were driven by a passion to triumph.”

○ “Not only did I form you to be beautiful, open-hearted and compassionate but as part of your “daughter design” I gave you the ability to bring joy into the sorrows of others, peace into the conflict swirling in the lives of others, and the ability to establish an atmosphere where contentment reigns over chaos. I designed you that way so that, through you, I would be able to show love and care to those caught in the terror and bondage of culturally inflicted pain.”

○ “I formed you to live as a man of quiet confidence. A man trusted by many for your ability to draw upon your deep knowledge of many things and your confident wisdom, wherever you are. I made you to be a stabilizing presence. I established your destiny to be known as a stabilizing influence on both the environment around you and people you are in relationship with.”

○ “Your motivation, nature, and desire is to help others succeed. It is that drive to help them succeed that has become the defining identifier of your life. It is why I gave you an inquiring mind that is driven to search out the knowledge and to develop the wisdom to make others taste success.”

○ “My daughter, you’re beautiful! It’s true! I formed you from the inside out. In forming you, beauty was My desired outcome. Your wisdom, intellect, and understanding are all formed of beauty. Your precise way of thinking, reasoning, and acting, is like a ballet dancer’s performance, a thing of beauty. Your passion for discovering and understanding the nature of everything you encounter reveals the beauty of your intellect and your curious nature.”

○ “I formed you out of the secret place of My heart. It is a place where few engage Me, mostly because they are fearful of what they will discover there. Your life experiences reflect that same reality. You, like Me, long for people to discover, desire, and embrace the reality of your inner self and yet it seems that no one with good intentions does.”

○ “You, My daughter, were formed in My heart. It was there where I shaped you like the ocean: deep, filled with powerful currents, teeming with life, and always able to reshape anything you touch. Like the moons, influences the oceans tides, you are able to be influenced by outside forces, but those forces are powerless to fundamentally change who you are. I love and delight in all of that about you!”

○ “The real challenge you have faced, has been how others have viewed you and the expectations they have put on you. I made you to bring Me pleasure, while most of those closest to you, wanted you to please them. Pleasing others is a criminal burden on those, like you, who I made open, honest, and reflective.”

○ “You are a man of strong desires. I designed that into you. Now it is disappearing from your life labeled as a weakness and source of destructive behavior. You are going to need it in your future if you are going to move forward and experience your destiny.”

○ “Will you share in My love by letting me take down the shell of protection and wrap My life into yours in such a way that the world will see, desire, and worship Me?”

○ “She is something special. Yes, she is! I heard it like God was having a conversation with Himself about you. But I have formed many “something special” sons and daughters. The really special thing isn’t who she is but “where” I made her for. She will find a place for herself in the arenas of influence. I formed her with the confidence and skills to make room for herself among those that will influence cultures, trends, and societies direction.”

○ “Son, I am driven by My heart to reach out to you again. You were formed so beautifully and are blessed with such a wondrous design. Together we can do so much. I have placed such a deep part of My identity in you that I’m always longing to bond more deeply with you.”

○ “O My son the builder.” I made you exceptionally good at building. I need builders like the you as Kingdom Builders. You have always built in the face of opposition. The forces opposing you know your assignment and your desire to be My Kingdom Builders. Their opposition is fueled by both their hate of Me and their fear of you.”

○ “As a son of opportunity, I designed you with amazing talents with which to pursue endless expressions of who you are. I have made you desirable to your culture. I have revealed myself to you in ways that are appealing to you. That combination affords you the ability to experience love between us in deep, passionate ways that lets you live in My glory.”

○ “Three things define you My son. I gave you My heart. I also gave you a cynical mind and a desire for stability. Each of them I have used to form, shape, and fulfill you. Without My heart to influence you, you would have become a rigid, cynical, bitter man able to do harm to a lot of things. On the other hand, when I am orchestrating the three elements of you, a man flowing with tenderness, discovery, creativity and loyalty emerges to influence your world.”

○ “By mixing the tenderness of My heart, together with the resolve and unbending strength that is the core of My spirit, I formed you My daughter as an intricate and complexed tower of strength. You are a magnificent, lovely, and strong tower that attracts a steady stream of people. They are searching for what is inside of you and view you as a place where they will be safe.”

○ “My son, I formed you as an atmosphere changer. I made you to be more confident and self-assured in yourself than in the circumstances in which you were placed in or encountered. I commissioned and gifted you with the ability and instincts to uncover the hidden value in other people’s identity. Then I added into the depth of your identity the authority to release those newly revealed values in others, freeing them to accomplish things that they would have never been otherwise able to accomplish.”

○ “I formed you to be a woman of expression, exploration, and escapades. I formed you to bring delight to others and for you to experience delight, simply by being you. Those “escapades” I made you for, they are how you will come to experience and interact with a realm you don’t yet know. The incessant drive for “exploration” I formed in you will keep you delighted with every discovery you make.”

○ “You are a Liberator! There are two kinds of generals, liberators and conquers. You are a liberator. From your earliest age you pursued personal liberation. You focused your energy, streetwise nature, and power on not being swallowed up by circumstances, nor the desires and expectations of others.”
